

About 650 British veterans made a pilgrimage to Ypres recently. General French and Burgomaster Golaert passing through the town.

Dorothy Gish and her husband on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City.

Members of the American Good Will committee greeted in France when they landed in Havre.

Cape of black Moroccan crepe, trimmed with ermine and with white embroidery. One of the latest creations of Paris shops.

This is Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford seeing the sights of Quebec. It doesn't look quite natural to see Mr. Ford traveling in a horse-drawn vehicle.

Kids are born smokers in the Philippines. They take to a cigar just like kids in other countries take to the bottle.

Scene at the monster pacifist meeting recently held in Berlin at the Lustgarten.

Another Paris creation—a plain frock of Moroccan crepe.

